“ I just learned about Cassie Stevens today, through Justin's Number Theory book. Even though more than 10 years have passed, she continues to live on in our hearts. I am deeply sorry for your loss. Cassie was a true warrior, bravely fighting cancer at only 13 years of age. It feels so cruel how life can be merciless even to the kindest and most innocent souls. I know my words come late, but please know that my condolences are everlasting, and her memory will remain a light in all of us who hear her story.

“ Hi, I'm a student at AoPS and @binomialtheorem (Mr Justin Stevens) was my substitute instructor in my Intermediate Algebra course. I found out about Cassie when I bought "Olympiad Number Theory through Challenging Problems" and saw a memorial for Cassie on the front page.

I'm so sorry, Mr Stevens, and I know this is late, but RIP Cassie. My condolences to her family.
