“ Well where do I begin.. Walking into that bar Saturday and hearing about the story's and people who loved you made me so happy words can't discribe. I miss walking in there looking for you and laughing or you laughing at me the serious conversations we had about you letting me make my own disitions as long as I was happy and that there were something's you didn't like but you just let me do my own thing. I'm greatful you were my papa and that you were always there to vent to and after you'd always make me laugh I love you dearly and you will always be missed. Not a day will go by I won't think about you.

“ I only knew you for about 6 months but in that time you were very caring and sharing you always were so upbeat putting a smile on my face even when I was feeling really down you knew just the right things to say when I was missing Russell so much. Never pressuring just a wonderful person to be with I could always be myself and I really really appreciated that. I miss you deeply and you will remain in my heart forever...

“ Oh this man do I ever have memories with you ! You always watched over everyone ! You weren't afraid of anything and you always had positivity.
The date you past , I was undergoing - a very serious life and death surgery , you were there to help me through it I didn't know you had past i felt you there though, I survived this surgery when I woke , I knew you were gone I verified and was crushed , there easy a day I was at work you didn't make sure of that bear hug that made me feel so positive my shift was always okay because you always watched over me like your own . I didn't know you long but I knew you long enough . And you've given me more smiles thn I can count . You didn't deserve to leave us all so early. But God has his plans and I know your okay. I love you. You are loved you always will be . Thank you for helping me through my surgery. Thank you for being you .

“ For as long as I can remember you were always being everyone's second "Dad". Took me in and took care of me even, always bright and smiling. Looking out for everyone else before worrying about yourself. So sad to see you depart, but are now with your special angel dancing as always. You will be so deeply missed xoxo prayers and much love to all the family. Love Manda
