“ The passing of a wonderful lady.

When I was about 11 I met Edna and Harry Wallace at a place called Killdeer Beach, they were the campers up on the hill. My parents became friends with them and I came to know Edna a caring and kind woman that always treated me like I was one of her own, I took to calling her Auntie Edna out of the deep respect that I have for Edna. When I was 18 my appendices removed, My parents were out of town, when Edna herd this she insisted that I stay with her and Harry so she could watch over me.

One of the great things about going to the Wallace's is you knew that Edna would have a ton of great snacks around, she was a great cook! I will always remember her as a joyful person a truly good-hearted woman.
